HANDS FOR THE BATTLE FLAGS.

[Wash, Cor N. Y. Tribune

LET THE PLACE BE DISPLAYED AT WASH-

WASHINGTON, June 17. The attempt of the Administration to surrender the rebel battle flags probab y will result in the enforcement of the aw in regard to such trophies. The statement sent out by the President last night through the Assocluted Press as well as his letter recinding the order for the return of the fings, is designed to convey the impression that the Government is thable to furnish storage room for these flags; that they are kept in boxes; that they are kept in boxes; that they are moth eaten, etc., etc. Now the law requires the Secretary of War to collect all flags, standards and colors taken by the Army from the enemies of the United States for the purpose of having them, "preserved and displayed in such public place as he shall deem proper" at the seat of Government of the United States. Then why are these flags kept in a lockel room in the attle of the great War Department building, a room which no vetram of the late war is permitted to vait? Twenty years ago, when the army was a great deal larger than it is now, and when the business of the War Department was four or five times as great as it is to-day, and before this magnificent War Department building times as great as it is to-day, and before this magnilleent War Department building was raised, room was found for the dis-play of these captured flags. In those days Secretary Stanton's official quarters were such as one of Mr. Endicott's mes-sengers would spurn to-day. The corp-of officers in the Adjutant-General's de-partment, five or six in number, were con-tent with as large in room as General Drum himself uses to day. Then the flags were displayed.
